Manage centrally – This saves time and costs

Cost centres and cost control: Customers manage expenses centrally and create detailed reports for each location. Also clever: Your customers can determine which advertising is printed at which time. This makes uniform brand communication child's play.

Efficient franking of letters & parcels

With serema your customers always have the right postage at hand, accurate to the Cent. No matter whether your customers print labels on A4 sheets or as individual strips from the label printer. They always have the right, correct values at hand.

Registered email with encryption and electronic signatures for quotes, contracts and more serema closes the gap between letter and email. With easy-to-use features, customers benefit from added value email and eSign solutions, elegantly embedded in Outlook, Gmail and Browsers.
